

FEATURES

- 6 HISTORY MADE FOR WALKING
Paula Trubshaw heads for the hills: Karangahake Historic Walkway – scenic walks with a hefty garnish of ruins and relics.
- 9 ATHENREE HOMESTEAD
Elaine Fisher finds a touch of Irish magic
- 14 THOSE MAGNIFICENT FLYING MACHINES
A Southland couple’s love and passion for classic and vintage aircraft ensures old flying machines take to the skies again. We trace the Croydon Aircraft Company’s humble beginnings to a company with a worldwide reputation for quality workmanship.
- 17 GIGS, HORSES AND HORSE SHOES
Two Southern men, from vastly different backgrounds, share a passion for preserving traditional crafts and New Zealand’s rural past.
- 20 KEYS TO THE PAST
What you see in a museum is only part of the story – many hold extensive records of local and/or national importance. We visit two museums with extensive research facilities.
- 31 YESTERYEAR’S TRUCKS
The late Bill Richardson’s private truck museum - a tribute to the man’s love for trucks and the history of the road transport industry.
- 34 SOUTHERN HOSPITALITY
The trains have gone but you can still enjoy a night at the Victorian Railway Hotel.
- 36 SEASONED COLLECTORS
Blame it on the engagement present. Lisa Sarsfield discovers a Taranaki couple’s extensive, and far from humble, collection of salt and pepper shakers.
- 38 HUIA SETTLERS MUSEUM
Tony Russell checks out a small museum in Auckland’s wild west.

9

41 HOOKED ON ENGINES

Stationary steam, oil and petrol engines once drove much of our economy – from the shearing shed, to water pumps, to the timber mills in the forests and more. We profile two men who make sure that history is not lost.

44 SOUTHERN LADIES TAKE CHARGE

Queen Victoria my not have been amused; but then she was not in Oamaru.

46 FACELIFT PRESERVES HISTORIC HOTEL

One of Dunedin’s oldest hotels has been given an extensive make-over. David Killick reports.

48 CRAWLER’S DAY OUT

What better excuse than an 80th anniversary for taking to the fields for some old-timer’s ploughing?

52 ALL ABOARD

Christopher Moor heads out to the Hutt Valley and jumps aboard the Silver Stream Railway.

55 THE TOROA WILL STEAM AGAIN

Tony Russell talks to a dedicated team determined to beat the odds.

58 NEW ZEALAND’S SCOTTISH AND ENGLISH HERITAGE CELEBRATED

David Killick finds style and grandeur at Huntley House.

17

36

COLUMNS

- 1 Editorial
- 4 Events and Book Draws
- 12 Writers Profile by Lisa Sarsfield
- 25 Book Review
- 26 Humour
- 27 Subscription Form
- 29 Book Reviews
- 40 Preserving Family Memories - Special Offer

PLUS

- 45 Your chance to Win a Book
- 60 Upcoming Events
- 61 Club Listings
- 62 Next Issue
- 64 Coup de Grace

48

52

COVER PHOTO: Almost time to party - Oamaru Victorian Heritage Celebrations committee chairperson Marise Newbery (left) and co-ordinator Sally Brooker discuss plans for this year’s festivities while walking through the town’s historic precinct. This year’s Oamaru Victorian Celebrations take place from 16 – 20 November.

Photo by Sandy Jones